

World Book & ©opyright Day ! 23 April 2016

A book is a yoke flanked by the historical past and our imminent future. It is a link between age group and across all culture boundaries and differences.

It is a strength for crafting and distribution of knowledge & data.

Frank Kafka once said, “a book must be an ice-axe to break the seas frozen inside our soul.”

RETHINKING learning IN A CHANGING WORLD

