New Electronic Resources available at DUT Libraries

Dear Staff, Students and Researchers

We are excited to announce that the DUT Library now offers access to the following new electronic resources to support your teaching, learning and research needs:

JoVE Research is a multidisciplinary platform. JoVE Research is a productivity platform providing access to step-by-step video demonstrations of experiments filmed at top laboratories worldwide. JoVE Research comprises of cutting-edge, peer reviewed visual scientific experiments by researchers across the world. JoVE publish more than 100 new Research videos each month in 13 different subject areas such as Environment, Immunology & Infection, Genetics, Engineering and 9 others. Why is JoVE Research important to DUT? The answer lies in the research output and research objectives of DUT. The benefits of JoVE Research are numerous, including the savings of not utilising expensive laboratory equipment and consumables and the ease at which visual content is consumed and comprehended by researchers. JoVE Research also addresses the issue of reproducibility which is a challenge within the scientific research community.
